Our speakers

Kirsty Walker, AHDB Pork

Kirsty is the Head of Marketing at AHDB Pork. She previously worked at the Arthritis Research UK where she was Policy, Communications and Brand Director. She has a degree in agricultural and environmental sciences and did her MSc dissertation on the Government's management of the BSE crisis.

Nigel Penlington, AHDB Pork

Nigel joined BPEX in 2004 and before that was a mechanisation consultant with ADAS for 13 years and developed the environment programme. Nigel has an HND in Agricultural Engineering and an MSc in irrigation and drainage. He has worked in Saudi Arabia as farm manager on a 3,000 acre holding, as well as for land drainage and utility firm. Nigel is now the head of research and development and knowledge exchange for AHDB Pork.

Ricardo Neto, MSD

Ricardo graduated in Portugal and has worked in private practice at Holmefield Farm services, a specialised pig practice in Yorkshire. After this time in practice, Ricardo joined Merial for the launch of the first PCV2 vaccine in the UK, as technical manager for the UK and Republic of Ireland. In 2012 he joined MSD AH as technical manager for the UK and republic of Ireland, with main focuses on PRRS, PCV2 and EP.

John Hayden, Integra Veterinary Services

John qualified as a vet from Liverpool in 1990. Since 1997 he has been working as Integra Veterinary Services, exclusively with pigs, mostly in East Anglia but also further afield. Originally Integra was part of the Garth Partnership but this is now known as Garth Pig Practice Ltd.

Tim Schofield, Suffolk FWAG

Tim has been a Farm Conservation Adviser for Suffolk FWAG for 16 years, having previously worked in the agricultural seed and grain trade. Although based in coastal Suffolk, work is undertaken nationally, especially with regard to outdoor pigs. He is responsible for developing the "Pigwise" reporting structure, now widely accepted as the industry yardstick for successful environmental management.

Tim has comprehensive experience of compiling successful AE schemes, covering mixed, intensive arable, dairy and grassland farming. He works nationally with the outdoor pig farming industry to provide environmental site risk assessments.
